We're growing again!

Just wanted to inform our customers on some exciting news. PcComputerGuy is in the process of growing... again!

We are adding a new phone system with exciting, limitless abilities. Among these include the ability to be transfered automatically during off hours for emergency tech support directly to an on-call tech.

We are also in the process of upgrading our website with an entirely new design. We have recieved numerous compliments on our existing site and it has been a great success elevating us to one of the top positions on google. However we can do even better! The new site should be up within the month and has been in the works for the last several months.

We are also in the process of bringing on some additional help needed to keep up with the demand of our growing customer base! We will soon be adding Saturday service for your convenience.

These are just a few of the many new things that you will see in the next month here at PcComputerGuy.

Check back often!
